

Benefits of a Remote Training Delivery

Enjoy the many benefits that remote training can bring to you and your business. With our focus on protecting the health and safety for you, your staff and our employees, remote training will allow minimal disruptions to your operations, protecting your training program.

A Flexible Approach

Same quality training, delivered using a range of technology that suits you.

Reduce Audit Costs

Access sites that are difficult or risky to travel to and save on time and money.

Enable Sustainability

Access our network of expert trainer and maintain business continuity during this crisis.

We're reaching out to let you know our team is ready to support your marine training remotely. We understand maintaining your certification is essential to yourself and your career. With the integration of smartphones and/or video/audio technology, we can facilitate a remote training delivery with the appropriate governance and quality you have come to expect from CIBS Team.

CIBS has the ability to provide training and certification services remotely.

With the integration of smartphones and/or video/audio technology, we can facilitate a remote training with the appropriate governance and quality of outcome you have come to expect from CIBS Team.

CIBS works in concert with the Transport Canada, and while providing flexibility in obtaining training certification, we are not in any way compromising the robustness of these processes.

CIBS has available tools, that you can simply refer to and share within your organisation about training and certification to assist in internal communications.

Your CIBS team are highly experienced and are ready to help and work with you on any specific requirements to ensure your business continuity over this period.

If you have any questions, please contact us:
admin@cibsmarine.org

#